Opening Meeting of Woman's Club Was Interesting

By Besse Palmer Rhodes

A splendid representation of the membership of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, together with a number of guests were present at the opening program on Monday, October 9, and the subsequent delicious luncheon, planned and prepared under the direction of Mrs. N. H. Goodenow, hospitality chairman, and her assisting ladies. The eighth grade girls acted as waitresses.

The table decorations were in blue and yellow, the club colors. Large golden chrysanthemums and plumbago, being used with charming effect. These same flowers, with greenery, made beautiful stage decorations and added to the cheery hominess of the interior of the club house, which is being constantly improved and beautified. Among the recent effective changes instituted by Mrs. Homer Glidden, chairman of the house, is a new back drop for the stage, which blends in color with the side window drapes and richly colored silk lamp shades, throw a subdued light over all.

Club Mother Speaks

Luncheon tables were placed in the auditorium where, after the guests were seated, invocation was said by Rev. Cox, following a few words of introduction by the president, Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger, Mrs. J. A. Osgood, the club mother, spoke of the organization and progress, not only of this club, but of the club movement all over the world, paying a fitting tribute to the memory of the late Madame Severance, whom she says is now and always will be the inspiration of all club activity. After a few words of greeting to the club members the president in a short address, gave glimpses of plans for the year's work, forcing home the truth that, just how much shall be accomplished, is up to the club members. The importance of preparing ones self to vote intelligently at the coming election was urged, and announcement made that speakers on the various amendments will be heard pro and con. at the club house, before the election in November.

Other Organizations Represented

Mayor Mitchell representing the board of trustees of Sierra Madre, spoke appreciatively of the worth of the Woman's Club in the community, of the co-operation and enlargement of vision necessary for good citizenship and urged more and greater city improvements. J. N. Hawks, as president of the Chamber of Commerce, told of some of the greater accomplishments of that body, and dwelt on the need of city parks and of the danger in delaying to secure such acreage at once. Some of the aims of the Parent-Teacher's Association were told by Mrs. H. E. Allen, and brought a response from Mrs. Steinberger, pledging the co-operation of the club. The Men's Community Club was represented by Mrs. W. B. Anderson, who dwelt upon the broad scope of the organization and the educational factor of the splendid programs it brings to its members each month.

Address By Mrs. Thomas

Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, vice president at large of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs, made a place in the hearts of her hearers, by stating that some years ago, the Fennel residence sheltered by the famed wisteria vine, was her own dear home. Her key-note was, "World Peace, the Goal of American Citizenship," which could only be attained through the uniting of interests and purposes.

Speaker of Note

Miss Gertrude Barnum, the speaker of the afternoon, gave a clever talk filled with common sense philosophy, and presented with much evident courage of conviction, which brought for her hound after round of applause. Miss Barnum is nationally famous, having been active in affairs at Washington. Associated for years with Jane Adams, she was a resident of Hull House for three years. Miss Barnum's very plain talk to women, with its abundant food for thought, was the finale of an afternoon of intellectual richness, and is a fore-runner of the splendid meaty programs planned for the coming club season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Morgan and son have returned from a two-weeks outing at Hermosa Beach.

Making Plans for Red Cross 1922 Roll Call

The sixth annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross Association begins November 11 and ends on the 30th, extending from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving. Active preparations are being made by the chapters all over the United States to renew the membership of the association and secure the funds necessary to carry on its beneficent work.

Mayor Mitchell, who conducted the roll call so successfully last year, will again have the active management of the campaign in Sierra Madre. He will be assisted by the ladies who compose the board of directors of the local chapter and by volunteer workers in the community. Last year 828 individuals answered the call and a total of $1275 was contributed to the cause. This year it is hoped that the membership and receipts will be doubled. During the past twelve months the city has increased in wealth and population, so it is reasonable to expect that our prosperity will be reflected in the results obtained by this roll call.

The number of Americans blinded in the World War and recognized by the government as entitled to compensation was, according to latest statistics, 636. Three hundred and eleven are totally sightless and 325 partially blinded. Of the total, 242 were given training by the American Red Cross at Evergreen Institute, Baltimore, Md., up to December 31, 1921, when the institution was turned over to the Veterans' Bureau.

The statistics will be gratifying to Red Cross members as showing that more than one-third of the thus afflicted veterans received training through the Red Cross toward the end that they might in some measure become self-supporting. Many others would have benefitted had their physical condition made it possible.

The facts are food for thought and for gratitude for the inspiration which materialized in the founding of Evergreen. In idealism and practical usefulness this work stands apart on the highest plane, and the $7,088 appropriated in the budget of the National Headquarters of the Red Cross for the current fiscal year, to supplement certain salaries, to finance recreational activities and to provide for the purchase of emergency equipment and supplies at Evergreen, will stimulate effort toward still greater accomplishments in this institution. Yet that is not all, for out in the chapters alert minds and nimble fingers are untiring in producing books in Braille that the still more nimble fingers of blinded ex-service men may communicate to the ever-seeing brain the wonders of the written word. It is a privilege in which all may feel a compensating happiness.

COVINA DEMOCRAT TO SUPPORT RICHARDSON

G. F. Rinehart, a life-long Democrat and editor of the Covina Citizen, has announced that he and his paper will support Friend W. Richardson for governor in the coming campaign. He says: "As the lines are now drawn, there is nothing about Thomas Woolwine's platform to invite any decent voter to his standard. He has made his bed and now he must lie in it. On such a platform, should he win, his victory would be a defeat to himself, a misfortune for the state and an insult to the Constitution of his country, which he has sworn to defend."

WILL HOLD SERIES OF FORUM MEETINGS

The Chamber of Commerce will hold an Open Forum meeting at the Woman's Club house at 8:00 p. m., Friday evening, October 20th. This will be the first of a series of open meetings to be held by the Chamber of Commerce during the coming winter for the purpose of bringing the residents of Sierra Madre in closer touch with the Chamber of Commerce and its activities for the advancement of Sierra Madre.

An interesting program has been provided with out-of-town speakers who are live Chamber of Commerce workers and successful in their community. All adult residents of Sierra Madre and children of high school age are invited and urged to attend whether members of the Chamber of Commerce or not. No resident of Sierra Madre interested in the welfare of the city can afford to miss this meeting.

TO HIM THAT HATH SHALL BE GIVEN

RANDALL HAS CURE FOR PROFITEERING

Proposes a Business Usury Law, Limiting Profits of Corporations Dealing in Necessities

Startling his hearers with the boldness and apparent effectiveness of his plan, former Congressman Charles H. Randall told the state labor convention at Long Beach of his propose to introduce in Congress, if re-elected, a law to place a limit on the profits of every corporation in the United States. This is his method of curing the age-old evil of profiteering in the necessities of life.

"No one questions the sound policy," continued Mr. Randall before the convention, "of prohibiting the money shuck from collecting usurious interest upon his loans, hence we have usury laws in every state."

"No one questions the wisdom and the necessity of laws which control the profits which may be earned by public service corporations, through the rate making power."

"Then why should the giant corporations which distribute the necessities of life, food, fuel, shelter and clothing, be permitted to rob the people through inordinate profits"

"Corporations are creatures of the state, enjoying privileges granted by public authority. They are under some obligation to the power which created them."

"Inasmuch as corporate interests control both the buying and selling end of the necessities of life, the earning power of corporate dollars should be limited by public authority to a reasonable amount."

"Having this in mind I am in favor of and will introduce in Congress, if elected, a bill to collect as a tax the excessive profits of corporations doing business for profit. Under the provisions of the proposed bill the secretary of the treasury of the United States is made ex-officio corporation commissioner of the United States and the reports of corporations are to be filed with him and the tax collected in much the same manner as the income tax is now determined and collected. The machinery of the secretary of the treasury for the collection of the income tax can be extended so as to include the necessary work in computing and determining this tax and collecting the same. Corporations will be allowed a reasonable net profit annually, and that profit has been tentatively placed at 20 per cent in this proposed bill. This would mean that every corporate dollar actually invested in a corporate enterprise and used in the same would be permitted to earn 20 per cent and all stock paid for in full or par would be permitted to earn the 20 per cent dividend, but stock issued for less than par would only participate to the extent that the corporation had received money, property or labor in payment for the same, that is, stock that is not paid for in full would not participate, to the extent of the water that is in the stock.

"Stock of corporations that is above par or where the assets are large and the capitalization low, would receive 20 per cent on the actual or book value of its stock. All the excess net profits over 20 per cent shall go to the government as an income tax of excess profits tax and be paid into the United States treasury. I might suggest that out of this could be paid the soldier's bonus for most of the profiteering was done by those who remained at home while the soldier was in Europe fighting our battles. It would be thus observed that the corporation's dollars will be able to participate to the extent of 20 per cent net profit and that the corporation is not thereby limited in its earning power, for all it has to do is to increase its capital and its business, just as an individual does when he desires to expand his business."

DEAN SHAW HEADS EMERGENCY RELIEF

Rev. Wm. Carson Shaw, Sierra Madre chairman of Near East Relief, has received word that national welfare and philanthropic societies have designated the Near East Relief, which is now in the field, as the central agency for raising funds in America and distribution of relief to the Smyrna refugees.

In a final effort to evacuate the remaining thousands of Christians at Smyrna, whose destruction by the Turk is said to be certain if they remain. Greek boats, under the protection of the American flag, are making two round trips daily between Smyrna and the nearby islands.

President Harding is expected shortly to announce a national committee of foremost men and women, headed by Will H. Hays, former Postmaster general, to carry on an intensified campaign in every community and state for Smyrna relief funds, which are to be administered through the Near East Relief commission. Smyrna's burning "ranks as the world's greatest tragedy," say authorities. It is feared that thousands will have perished to starvation and disease on the islands to which the refugees have been evacuated before sufficient food can be gathered together and distributed.

A. E. Isham Talks to Business Men About Chamber

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a dinner at the Venture Inn on Wednesday evening for thirty-two invited guests. While not a Chamber of Commerce dinner it was for the purpose of stimulating greater interest in the Chamber of Commerce and its activities for the development of the community. The board of directors provided an interesting program calculated to impress upon the members and non-members present the importance of the position of the Chamber of Commerce in the life of the community and the good it can do and is doing for Sierra Madre.

Major Floyd briefly outlined the activities of the Chamber of Commerce during the past year. Mr. Robert Mitchell gave a most interesting talk on the reasons for a Chamber of Commerce and why it should be supported in Sierra Madre. He urged those present to greater efforts for the advancement of Sierra Madre through the Chamber of Commerce.

The principal speaker of the evening was A. E. Isham, secretary of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce, one of the most successful secretaries in California. Mr. Isham delivered a straight forward address driving home numberless facts about the Chamber of Commerce. His address covered the relation of the secretary to the Chamber of Commerce and the community, the Chamber of Commerce and its part in the community life, and the community itself. The subject matter of Mr. Isham's address was well conceived and excellently delivered. Those who had the pleasure of hearing him were deeply impressed.

PICTURE SHOW POST- PONED UNTIL OCT. 20

The picture show which was to have been held at the Congregational Church Saturday, October 14, has been postponed until the night of Friday, October 20. The change of dates was made because of the Community Sing. The show will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

MRS. S. F. WILSON OF PASADENA PASSES

Mrs. S. F. Wilson, sister of Mrs. E. F. Ballou passed away at the home in Pasadena, on Sunday, October 1, after a lingering illness. Interment was in Chicago, Ill., on Monday.

BASEBALL PUZZLE EXCITES INTEREST

A great deal of interest was manifested in the Base Ball puzzle page which was printed in the News last week. Most fans believed that the answers were simple and most of them were, but there were only four who were able to guess all twelve answers correctly. Those who solved the puzzles correctly were, Hamong Green 169 North Baldwin, William Jenkins, 68 North Auburn, C. H. Chandler, 58 West Grand View and Rex Cox, 65 East Laurel. The correct answers follow:

- 1.—A pitcher never wears a chest protector.
- 2.—Shortstops do not wear shin guards.
- 3.—No base runner ever catches a ball.
- 4.—Alexander is not a left-handed pitcher.
- 5.—Masks are not proper on batsmen.
- 6.—The umpire is giving the wrong signal. He is shouting "strike" yet giving the "ball" signal via his left arm.
- 7.—This is baseball, not football.
- 8.—A batter who has hit safely does not carry his bat around the bases with him.
- 9.—Batters never stand on top of the home plate when at bat.
- 10.—A base runner should not attempt to run another base runner off the bag with a fly in the air, for it paves the way to a double play.
- 11.—The runner in this cartoon is going in the wrong direction.
- 12.—The umpire is giving the right decision in calling the runner "out" but wrong signal. The position of the umpire's hands represent the "safe" signal.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL HOLD HOUSE WARMING OCT. 23

On October 23rd all citizens are cordially invited to attend the formal opening of the new additions to the Sierra Madre City School, which have just been completed.

The grounds and buildings will be open from 7 to 10 p. m.

An interesting program, arranged especially for the occasion, will be held on the quadrangle patio. The program will begin at 8 o'clock, and is as follows:

- 1.—Selection—Sierra Madre Band.
- 2.—Impressions of Hawaii, by E. H. Reynolds. Illustrated by lantern slides and moving pictures of the famous volcano, Kilaua.
- 3.—Hawaiian songs: (a) Kahumana, by Helen Beamer. (b) Beautiful Hawaii, by Charles E. King. Irene Gay, accompanied by Girls' Ukele Club.
- 4.—Hawaiian Dance, by Patsy Stark.
- 5.—Selection by Sierra Madre Band.

Dancing will follow the program, and refreshments will be served by the Parent-Teachers' Association.

WRIGHT CALIFORNIA PLAYERS COMING

The ladies of St. Rita's Church have engaged the Wright California Players, well known professional artists, to give a four-act drama, entitled: "In the Shadow of the Cross", a biblical play. The drama will be followed by a two-act comedy. Several musical and vocal numbers will be given between the acts.

Sierra Madre but rarely has an opportunity to witness such dramas by professional actors and no doubt this event will be of unusual interest. Detailed announcements will be given at a later date.

The drama will be presented in St. Rita's auditorium on November 6th, commencing at 8 o'clock p. m.

WOMAN'S GUILD MEETING FRIDAY

The next meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension will be held Friday, October 20, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Major Gwyn, 77 East Laurel. Mrs. Gwyn and Mrs. Green hostesses.

POMONA FAIR TO BE MOST ATTRACTIVE

Pomona will be host during the week of October 17-21 to thousands of persons in offering for the first time the Los Angeles County and institution of magnitude. Success is assured, due to the fact that every department is filled to overflowing with exhibits from every section.

Here are the features of the fair—
a list of attractions to appeal to all.
The agriculturist who wants to see what other farmers are accomplishing and the city dweller who knows that the further development of the back country is vital to community growth will alike be interested in the vast display of the agricultural and horticultural resources of the southern counties.

The largest available tent was secured to house these exhibits. One section will be devoted to a big industrial show and another has been set aside for automobiles, trucks and tractors.
There will be actual demonstrations of the latest improved models in farm machinery.

Livestock will naturally be one of the main attractions of the exposition, and particularly fine examples of farm animals in all classes will be shown.
There will be special departments for horses, beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep, goats, rabbits, calves, poultry, and water-fowl. Liberal awards will be made in all departments.

Horse lovers will be there in large numbers, for they are promised four days of wonderful racing and an elaborate horse show each night. Some of the best-known breeders of thoroughbreds have entered their horses in the harness and running races.

DEAN SHAW SPEAKS ON R. R. QUESTION

Dean W. C. Shaw of the Church of the Ascension, Sierra Madre, spoke before the Arcadia and Monrovia Chambers of Commerce last week on the question of separation of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific Railroad systems. On Tuesday of this week he appeared before the Azusa Chamber of Commerce. He is speaking in behalf of the Shippers' Committee against dismemberment, an organization whose members are interested in the question by reason of the $250,000,000 annual freight bills which they pay. They oppose enforcement of the decree of the Supreme Court on proceedings begun a number of years ago, since when it is claimed the policy of the government regarding unification of the railroad systems has been changed. The Interstate Commerce Commission will take up the matter soon.

Mrs. C. L. Calvert of 199 North
Hermosa and her grandson, Jack Mc-Edward, returned last Friday from Avalon after spending several weeks on the island. Jack expects to return soon to New York where he will resume work with his father whom he assisted in the production of several great film spectacles in Europe during the past year.

SPORTSMEN BAGGING MANY WATER BIRDS

The opening of the duck season saw many hunters bagging limits of the birds, according to this week's hunting report issued by the Southern Pacific Company.

On the Maxwell Gun Club reserve shooting was exceptionally good, practically all hunters getting limits. At Colusa the opening day brought excellent shooting until about 8 a. m. when the ducks took flight. Few geese have made their appearance in the Colusa district.

At Gridley many limits were bagged on the opening day, but the gun clubs were overcrowded and the roads jammed with automobile traffic. Thousands of birds were reported, but they were flying high. The sport continues to be good there and the rice fields are open to the public.

Los Banos reports the opening of the season was very successful, hunters covering the fields in large numbers. Many limits of ducks and a few geese were bagged. Conditions in general are very favorable there. Most of the fields have been leased by gun clubs and accommodations are limited. Reservations may be made in advance with the Fox, the Island, the Button-willow or the Los Banos Gun Clubs. El Centro reports good hunting at Salton Sea, near Niland. Hunters stated ducks were plentiful in the sloughs.

In addition to the hunting reports, word from Sisson states that, with clear and cool weather, fishing is fair in that district.

RIVERSIDE FAIR TO BE WINNER

It has been the special effort of the management of the Southern California Fair, which will be held at Riverside, October 10th to 15th, to present a complete fair in all departments. From automobiles to the swine show, every division will be thoroughly representative.

Educational features will abound this year at the Southern California Fair, and that boy and girl with their products for school and ranch will be very much in evidence. At present the boys from the agricultural department of the high schools are busily engaged in constructing buildings and planting the crops for the miniature farm in which all departments of a well-balanced farm with dairy, poultry, swine and crops pertaining to these lines in three-year rotation, together with the home garden, orchard and flower garden will be shown.

The agricultural exhibition will be the largest ever attempted in the south, in which seven counties outside of Riverside will exhibit their products and every community of Riverside County will be in evidence. The entire agricultural department display as shown at the State Fair will be in evidence, with some special additions from Southern California. The United States Department of Agriculture is making a large display.

The automobile show will be the most complete with a wide variety of cars, in their best display style will be shown. Connected with this will be the "Power on the Farm" division with a big show.

The livestock shown has again outgrown its former quarters and additions to barns and pens are being built. The largest showing of dairy cattle in the state will be had this fall at Riverside. Entries of dairy cattle from Arizona, Nevada and Oregon will be added to exhibits from nearly all parts of California. These entries include Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys, Ayrshires, Dairy Shorthorns, Dutch Belted and Brown Swiss.

L. A. STORES DISPLAY "VAMP-DARN-ITS"

Featured in the windows of the two Broadway stores of C. H. Baker in Los Angeles, last week was hosiery display, the "Coronation of the Vamp-Darn-It," an attractive "dressing up" of the novelty stocking darning with beautiful colored hose, making a picture of a crowned queen attended by her court ladies. The courtesy of crediting to Mrs. Hauxhurst, the "Vamp-Darn-It's" origin and where made was shown.

Since this little article was first brought out, Mrs. Hauxhurst has greatly improved its artistic value by producing the little human faces with tinted cheeks, and highly decorative Oriental headaddresses in gay enamels and gold, the former black and white article being discontinued.

Woodson F. Jones, as heretofore handles the "Vamp-Darn-It," it being especially suitable for gifts during the holiday trade.

Football Season Now With Us; In Action

FOOTBALL'S among us again. From now until Thanksgiving it's the sport we shall here most about. It so happens that this picture is of Captain Charley Buell of Harvard, but it might just as well be taken as symbolical of the gridiron game which so many college athletes are playing or in training for throughout the country just now.

How Perfectly Human He Looks For a Real Live King!

NOTE the central figure—dark slouch hat, face wearing what the novelists call "a wry smile," chin resting on the knob of a cane. A Spaniard would identify this individual as "Alphonso Tracy." However, Hapsburg, not Tracy, is his family name. "Tracy" is merely the Spanish pronunciation of "trece," meaning "thirteen." In other words, it's Alphonso XIII, king of Spain. He's sitting, just like a common person, with his friends, at a cafe table in Deauville, a French seaside resort, well named Deauville, though it should be spelled "dough" for it is one of the most expensive places in Europe.

NOW—ALL TOGETHER ILLINOISANS FOR THE GREAT PICNIC

The regular annual fall picnic of all the Illinoisans of Southern California and the West Coast will be held in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday, October 21.

If rainy that date it goes over one week at same place. All the Illinois societies connected with the Federation of State Societies will unite for a mammoth closing rally. All the "Suckers" of the Illinois brand are urged to join in making this the jolliest of the four held this year.

It is largely up to you for it's your picnic and you will have to pass the news along by word, by phone and letter. You have more than 200,000 Illinoisans here to invite. Henry J. Brubaker will preside and lead the community songs. Bring your basket dinner, hot coffee will be provided. County headquarters open all day. Program about 2 o'clock p. m.

VOL. 17, NO. 2

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1922

There is a rumor abroad among telephone men that the Alhambra-San Gabriel exchange is about to reorganize. We don't quite understand why they say re-organize, because every telephone subscriber on the exchange knows that there must first be an organization before there can be a reorganization, but, be that as it may, we hope the rumor soon becomes legitimate news, because we can't think of a story that would please us better than one which would give the people of this community some reason to hope that, somehow, someday, there will really be better telephone service than we are now getting from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Several weeks ago a telephone census of this district was taken, and we made it a point to talk to one of the men who was doing the field work. The young fellow was pretty much out of patience from having to listen to so many complaints. Having no power to change conditions, the solicitors were not in a position to be of any service, further than to admit that there were more complaints in the Alhambra-San Gabriel district than in any other district where they had worked. Since that time we have talked to a great many people about the service and the nearest thing to a compliment we have heard came from a man who remarked, "Well, their collection department is a very efficient organization, anyway."

Don't go to Los Angeles thinking you can commit a crime and get away with it—especially if the crime you have in mind is the killing of a policeman. Most anything else will go, but that isn't according to the rules of the game. It makes the rest of the Los Angeles policemen mad. Witness the wiping out of a whole gang of holdup men a month or two ago. Those fellows had been doing a prosperous business for a long time without being molested. But they made the mistake of killing a couple of cops. Then the police made it up among themselves to get the gang and it seemed to be no trouble at all to plant an ambush around one of their jobs. Now "Little Phil Alguin" is chased all over the map and even the chief goes to El Paso to get him. Phil gets almost as much free advertising as a movie divorcee. Nobody heard much about his operations until he killed a Los Angeles policeman. That is one thing the force will not stand.

The Wright enforcement act is not a "dry" law like those which were defeated in 1914 and 1916. It merely makes the law of Congress the law of California. It will prevent the constitution of the United States being made the laughing stock of the lawless element in this state, the only state in the union which does not have such a law.

"This community never did anything for me—I don't see why I should do anything on that," is a more or less frequent excuse for not aiding in some public enterprise. But the longer one lives the more apparent it becomes that what one gives and what one receives just about balance, especially when it comes to boosting and knocking.

Last week's baseball puzzle page was very opportune with the world's championship series occupying public attention. Some people said the puzzles were too easy. But some who thought they were easy failed to get all the answers. There will be another puzzle page before long. Watch for it.

The more people get a real insight into the possibilities of the arroyo park site, the better they appear to like it. Admit that it takes a little imagination to do justice to it in its present condition, the tract of thirty acres with the pumping plants on the south end offers the greatest civic asset now in possession of the city.

Arguments For and Against Water and Power Act

The News here presents arguments both for and against the elections. These arguments have been presented by supporters proposed Water and Power Act to be voted upon at the November of opposite sides of the question. Study them carefully.

By W. B. Mathews

Contrary to the representations of the big power companies in the fight against the California Water and Power act, the $500,000,000 involved in this constitutional amendment is not to be a debt burdening the taxpayers. It is, instead, a limit placed on the use of state credit in construction of self-supporting water and power projects.

If the $500,000,000 of bonds were of the ordinary sort, like road bonds, school bonds or other bonds for non-revenue producing purposes, the entire amount might be sold at once, and an insufferable weight of interest assumed immediately. Opponents are trying to make the people fear that this will be the result. It cannot be. These bonds cannot be sold except as the proceeds are invested in water and power projects. Those projects must be feasible—and many such are awaiting development. "Feasible" means that engineering and economic surveys must demonstrate that a project is one that can be constructed at a cost of the interest and sinking fund and overhead of which can be borne by water and power rates advantageous to consumers.

Achieved on Credit

The big power companies boast a present investment of about $600,000,000 in hydro-electric power enterprises in California. They achieved this on their credit, and nothing else whatever. They plan to invest $1,000,000,000 more in the next ten years. Their projects are feasible, their credit is good—the billion dollars will be raised on their credit.

But the credit of the people of the State of California is better still—much better. Water and power projects await development just as feasible as those of the power companies. The market, crying for water and power at lowest possible cost, with profits, legitimate and illegitimate, eliminated, is much larger than the market which can pay for them at the existing excessive rates.

In the eyes of the opponents, use of private credit is a laudable thing—it enriches the fortunate few—while to them the use of the credit of all the people throughout the state is a political and economic crime.

To Be Sold As Needed

These state bonds will be sold only as the money is needed for construction work. It is probable that the first projects undertaken will be water and power development for irrigation districts and municipalities of the great San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys—closest to the vast water power sources and now paying exorbitant tribute to the private water and power monopolies. Early, also, it may be expected that San Francisco may get aid to complete both the water and power development of its Hetch-Hetchy project without the fatal necessity of surrendering the hydro-electric power to the private power monopoly.

Later, it is to be expected that state money, under this $500,000,000 limit, may be invested in transmission lines and distributing systems to bring Boulder Canyon light and power to municipalities and rural districts of all Southern California. It can be done for all of them. Mr. Mulholland and Mr. Scattergood assure me, at a cost far below even the low cost enjoyed by Los Angeles now.

Advantage to People

Let us suppose that at the end of ten years $500,000,000 will have been invested in these projects. The state, that is the people of California, will own the physical properties constructed—the dams, tunnels, conduits, power houses, transmission lines, distributing systems, canal systems, and immensely valuable water and power supplies. With the cheaper state money, with excessive materials cost and construction cost by favored contractors and excessive overhead eliminated—private monopoly construction encourages all of these—the state's investment in these projects will be at least 50 per cent less than private corporation investment would have been.

The physical properties enumerated will be worth to the people much more than the $500,000,000. The cost will have been their credit only. Not a dollar extracted from the taxpayer's pocket will have gone into the investment.

WHY VOTE A MORTGAGE ON YOUR HOME?

"It would amount to this, should the water and power constitutional amendment carry," said Leslie S. Smith, general manager of the Kings County Packing Company, in addressing the Guernsey farm bureau meeting. "If there are four members in your family, you would find that it had placed a mortgage of six hundred and forty-four dollars on your home." California now has a net debt of $15.66 per capita, as compared with $6.47, which is the average per capita net debt in thirty-three other states, as shown by the last available statistics. The bonded indebtedness of California is today greater than that of any other state except New York and Massachusetts.

"If the water and power bonds of $500,000,000 are added to the present debt of California, the state debt would represent forty-five per cent of the aggregate debt of all the states in the union. Your individual per capita of this debt would be $161.67, a jump of $145.90 from your present per capita, and the sum per capita applies to your wife, your child and your baby. If there are four members in your family, the family portion would be $647.04, constituting a first lien on your property—for state bonds are a first lien on your property, and your portion of them is a mortgage on your home."

Sell Bonds to Pay Bonds

That the water and power constitutional amendment resembles the exploded plans of the seventeenth century in financing by the issuing of bonds to pay off other bonds, was the essence of remarks made by Mr. W. H. Archdeacon, prominent resident of Pasadena in discussing the measure. He said, in part, "The act provides for the issuance of $500,000,000 in bonds and the spending of its proceeds by a board, of which one man is the dominating executive. It resurrects from the seventeenth century the exploded plan of financing undertakings by issuing bonds to pay off other bonds."

"Section seven of the bill obviously makes the blue vault of heaven the limit to which water power bonds may be pyramided. After providing for issuing $500,000,000 in bonds and spending the proceeds for buying, condemning and constructing water and electric properties and taking over practically any other private properties desired, the measure evidently contemplates the speedy expenditure of the first half billion and arranges for more bonds and yet more bonds. Operations and maintenance of water and power properties taken over by the act may also be sustained by pyramiding bond issues. How is the interest to be paid, and the sinking fund provided on these pyramided bonds? By the same old system—taxation."

NOTED SCIENTIST AT POMONA COLLEGE

Pomona College has performed a valuable service to the horticultural interests of Southern California in bringing to this region Dr. A. B. Stout, for many years connected with the New York Botanical Garden, who will spend a year in residence at the college to promote work in horticulture. On four successive Thursday nights, beginning October 19th, Dr. Stout will deliver a series of illustrated non-technical lectures in Holmes Hall, Claremont, under the general title, "Modern Problems in Crop Production and Plant Breeding." The lectures, which begin at 8 o'clock, are free and the public is cordially invited.

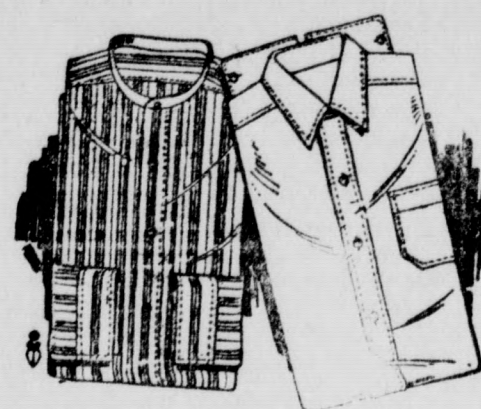

Dr. Stout is enthusiastic in his plans for his nine months' stay in Claremont and feels that he will learn a great deal, particularly from the citrus growers. He says "The matter of research and investigation, and the opportunity for practical experiments regarding fertility and sterility in citrus are the only features that have attracted me away from my interesting work in New York."

The Woman's Guild of the Church of Ascension parish are meeting with Mrs. Skinner and Mrs. Jacques of Sierra Madre Canyon this afternoon, and also holding a home-cooked food sale.

JUDGES ENDORSE CHIROPRACTORS

Twenty-four prominent judges on the superior and other courts in Southern California before whom chiropractic cases have been tried, have gone on record in favor of granting a separate board of examining chiropractors as provided by initiative bill No. 16, to be voted upon November 7. The board which would be created by the bill, would be entirely self-supporting, and will operate without cost to the taxpayers.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Meets each Lord's day, 2:30 p. m. in the rear of 182 W. Highland avenue, for Bible School. At 3:30 October 5, I. C. Vickery of Perry, Ark. will give us a talk. Come and enjoy the services with us under the shade trees.

A hearty welcome to all.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Sierra Madre News, published weekly at Sierra Madre, Cal., for October 1, 1922

State of California, ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared G. B. Morgridge, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the editor of the Sierra Madre News, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in Section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are: Publishers, Sierra Madre Press, Inc., Sierra Madre, Cal.; editor and business manager, George B. Morgridge, Sierra Madre, Calif.

2. That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock): Sierra Madre Press, Inc.; stockholders owning 1 per cent or more of total stock: Sierra Madre Press, Inc., Stockholders owning more than 1 per cent of the total amount of stock: George B. Morgridge, Victor C. Hill, J. D. Mackerras, A. W. Wotkins, M. C. Rogers, Geo. L. Mitchell.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgages and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) First National Bank of Sierra Madre.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholders or security holders appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

George B. Morgridge, Editor.
Sworn to and subscribed before me 30th day of September, 1922.

GOOD RESULTS FROM CITRUS SURVEY

The date received to date in the citrus survey which is being conducted of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau and the Agricultural Extension Service, cooperating with Prof. R. S. Valle of the Citrus Experiment Station, indicate many interesting things of value.

It is evident that the amount of nitrogen used on various orchards in various districts is by no means uniform and varies between quite wide under way in Monrovia-Duarte section with the Azusa district for the week following and these districts are proving particularly valuable because of the fact that the orchards have been under single management for a considerable length of time.

CERTIFICATE OF CHANGE OF INDIVIDUAL DOING BUSINESS UNDER A FICTITIOUS NAME

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That whereas, heretofore, L. W. Barlow and H. W. Bell, as copartners conducting a feed and supply business in East San Gabriel and in Arcadia, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, under the fictitious name of Valley Feed and Supply; and

Whereas, said L. W. Barlow, also known as Lewis William Barlow, has purchased from said H. W. Bell his interest in said partnership and business, and is now the sole owner thereof, and will continue to conduct the same, and said H. W. Bell no longer has any interest therein,

NOW, THEREFORE, the undersigned does hereby certify that he will continue and carry on a wholesale and retail business in hay, grain, seeds, feed and fuel at the Southern Pacific Tracks and San Gabriel Boulevard, San Gabriel, California, and Huntington Drive and Second Avenue, Arcadia, California, under the same fictitious name: Valley Feed and Supply; that he is the sole owner of said business, and that his full name and residence are: Lewis William Barlow, San Gabriel, California.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand this 19th day of August, 1922.

LEWIS WILLIAM BARLOW.
STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
County of Los Angeles,

For 16 Years
this plant has furnished printing service for the people of Sierra Madre, with a plant always a little ahead of the requirements of the town, and the best of workmen to operate it. Other printers have come and gone, but this shop stays on the job. Of late a considerable amount of work from other towns has been brought in without solicitation. There's a reason.

All of our prices are based upon the standardized Franklin Printing Price List, the "one-price-everything-marked-in-plain-figures" idea applied to printing.

HONEYCOMB COILS IN CONVERTING RECEIVER

Third Regenerative Circuit Arrangement Is by Electrostatic Coupling.

In making a receiving set over into a regenerative circuit, the DeForest honeycomb coils are very well adapted to a circuit arrangement as shown in Figure N. One coil is used as a primary, a second coil as a secondary, and a third as a tickler or plate inductance.

When mounted in a set the secondary is placed in the center and the primary and tickler coils on the outside in such a manner that the coupling between the primary and the secondary can be varied.

The greatest advantage derived from the use of honeycomb coils is the ability to cover the entire range of wave length with very small dead-end losses. With the same receiving set the coils used for receiving long wave trans-Atlantic stations can be plugged out, a smaller set of coils plugged in, and amateur stations picked up efficiently.

This ability tends to make this particular type of receiver the closest approach to a universal wave length receiver that can be made.

The regenerative circuit arrangements already shown feed back from the plate circuit to the grid circuit in one of two ways: First, conductively, as in the circuit called the DeForest Ultra-Audion circuit, and second, by inductive coupling as in the circuit which makes use of the tickler coil. There is a third method of coupling—electrostatic, by which the circuits between which the energy is to be transferred are connected by condensers.

In a circuit in which the energy is small and the frequency is high, that is, short wave length, the coupling condenser need be of only a very small capacity. The elements of a vacuum tube have a capacity with respect to each other. Some of the most efficient of the short wave regenerative receivers used today depend on the capacity between the elements of the vacuum tube to furnish the necessary electrostatic capacity between the plate and the grid circuits to feed energy from one of these circuits to the other.

Figure O shows a simple single tube regenerative receiver for short wave work that depends on the electrostatic capacity between the elements of the tube for the coupling between the plate and grid circuits. A variometer "A" in the antenna circuit is used for tuning. Another variometer "B" in series with the plate is used for tuning the plate circuit to the same natural period as that of the received signal. This circuit is sometimes called the tuned plate circuit method of regeneration.

There are two tuned oscillating circuits in the receiver. One tuned circuit consists of the variometer "A" with the capacity of the grid to filament of the tube across it. The other tuned circuit consists of the variometer "B" with the capacity of the plate to filament across it. These two circuits are in turn electrostatically coupled to each other by the capacity between the grid and the plate.

A receiver of the type shown in Figure O is very efficient, because there are no untuned circuits. In addition the energy sent back from the plate circuit to the grid circuit compensates for the losses in the circuits. This results in very high amplifications.

Though the adjustment of a set of this type is rather critical, especially the amount of induction in the plate circuit, but two knobs are necessary to control the tuning and the amount of regeneration. With a good antenna and a circuit of the general arrangements of that shown in the diagram, an amateur can get excellent results. Any of the standard variometers on the market can be used for the grid and plate variometers "A" and "B."

For those who wish to build a set of this type, a more detailed diagram of connections is shown in Figure P. The antenna series condenser is one of the 21-plate size. An "A" battery potentiometer is shown in the circuit for those who wish to use a soft detector tube.

ELECTRICAL SHOP AND RADIO

Establishment That Does General Electrical Work Has Big Advantage Over Others.

One of the strongest arguments possessed by the electrical store selling radio supplies is the expert service it can offer, says Burton Millar, in a comprehensive article in Radio Merchandising. All sorts and descriptions of apparatus and parts can be put in stock by any store in any line of business and that is exactly what is being done in every city in the country, but the establishment which makes a specialty of doing general electrical work—wiring for light, power, etc., and carrying a stock of electrical goods of every sort—has a distinct advantage over the store which added a radio department to other lines of merchandise entirely different in character.

It is virtually important, however, that the availability of this expert service be broadcast to the field it is desired to reach. Publicity is the only thing that will do it. The public must be told. Not once, but repeatedly, and in every possible way.

It is not enough to have a card in the display window announcing: "Our electrical experts will be glad to give you any information or assistance in installing or operating your radio outfit." Or to run an occasional small ad in the local newspapers. Or to have a car card in the local street cars. Or to distribute small folders through the mails to a local list.

All of these methods are good—if you keep persistently at it! There is no single quality of advertising so absolutely essential as persistence. If you do not concede this you are simply ignoring the experience of all successful advertisers of all time.

If the radio department is to be built up and made a substantial part of your store's business it is essential that the public be told where it can find this superior service, tested apparatus and expert counsel.

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

A talk given recently at Schenectady by Dr. Marconi was enjoyed by a crowd of 3,000 persons who had assembled in Washington park, Albany, for the purpose.

On the Pacific coast preference in time for broadcasting is to be given to the stations having the greatest efficiency and therefore able to serve the greatest number of people.

Rubber is very useful material in radio work. You will find rubber stoppers to bottles make excellent knobs or tips to electrodes, adjusting rods, etc., and that block or sheet rubber is very useful as an insulator in many places; but if you have ever tried to cut rubber with a knife you will know how hard it is to make a neat, smooth, straight cut. But if you use a sharp knife and keep the rubber wet with cold water, or cut it under water, you will find that it cuts like cheese.

A radio university, placing higher education within the reach of all, is now considered but a matter of time. The future educational possibilities of radio seem to be limited only by the co-operation of the people.

SIERRA MADRE WOMAN'S CLUB

By Besse Palmer Rhodes

Open Meeting

An opportunity to hear several splendid speakers will be given by the club on the evening of October 23, which the citizens of the community will need no urging to attend. This meeting will be held at the club house and will begin with a supper served promptly at 6:30 at a charge of fifty cents.

Speakers will be, Judge Houser, on "Law Enforcement," J. J. Hamilton, "Initiative Measure," Harold Landreth, commander of Pasadena Post No. 13, American Legion, "State Measure Increasing Soldier's Loan." The California Water and Power Act, will be debated by Mrs. Mollie Bloom Flagg, affirmative, and M. M. Link, negative. Questions will be allowed from the floor. Reservations for the supper may be made with Mrs. F. B. Seeley, black 967, and Mrs. E. H. Carpenter, green 172, before Saturday night, October 21. Those not attending the supper, may hear the program at 7:30. No admission will be charged.

Hallow'en Dance

Owing to the proximity of Hallow'en the first dance of the season, which will occur on the evening of October 27, will be a fancy costume affair, in which interest will be stimulated by the club's offer to give a prize to the lady and gentleman wearing the handsomest costume, and also to the two attired in the most grotesque. An effort is being made to secure music of the best and no effort will be spared to make this initial dance a memorable one.

INDIANAPOLIS CLUB HOLD MEETING HERE

Miss Leah Fletcher was hostess to thirteen members of the Indianapolis Club of Southern California at her home in Sierra Madre at 1 o'clock luncheon yesterday afternoon. The guests were, Mrs. Bessie Beck, Mrs. Kerchabal, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Herbert Lyons, and Mrs. Cooper of Los Angeles. Mrs. Mary Morrison of Alhambra, Mrs. Joseph Taggart and Miss Ruth Taggart of Pasadena, Mrs. C. P. Barnes of Long Beach, Mrs. E. G. Sinsabaugh of Manhattan Beach and Mrs. J. A. Osgood and Mrs. Ben J. Thompson of Sierra Madre.

RANGER HAYWARD BEATEN BY HIKERS ON CANYON TRAIL

Ranger Fletcher Hayward was attacked by three hikers near First Water Camp in the Big Santa Anita Canyon Saturday night about 10 o'clock. The three men gave their names as Robert Deal, 25; Charles Rice, 19, and A. E. Kinsinger, 22. They had evidently been drinking and disturbing other occupants of the camp when the ranger attempted to call them to order. They were placed under arrest and ordered by the ranger to sit down. Kinsinger rose several times and when Ranger Hayward attempted to make him sit down, he struck him, breaking his nose. Deal came to the aid of his buddy, but both were finally subdued and the three were brought to Sierra Madre where they were lodged in the jail until Sunday night, when Constable James Quigley of Monrovia took the prisoners in charge.

Deal and Rice were brought before the justice of the peace at El Monte Tuesday morning, where Deal pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting liquor and was fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail. Rice was given a suspended jail sentence during good behavior. Kinsinger, who is charged with resisting a federal officer will not be tried until next week.

GAVE PRETTY SHOWER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Eleanor and Gertrude Tucker were hostesses at a pretty shower Thursday night given in honor of Mrs. Anna Chalmers, whose marriage to L. C. Tucker will take place in the near future. Mrs. Chalmers was sent to the Tucker home on East Suffolk on an errand and when she entered the house she found a crowd of about twenty-five young ladies waiting for her. After greetings were exchanged an elf appeared and invited the guests to the pergola which was decorated with Japanese lanterns and where the gifts for the bride-to-be were stored. Light refreshments were served.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for the kindness shown and floral offerings to the late Mrs. Grace Brinley. MR. and MRS. F. J. McCASLON

FIREMAN'S CLUB WILL FINISH BASEMENT

At a meeting of the Sierra Madre Fireman's Club in the City Hall Tuesday night it was voted to finish the basement of the new club house at once, so that the rooms will be available for club purposes during the winter months. The floor will be covered with a coating of roofing paper and tar to keep out the rain and the basement rooms will be finished and furnished for the comfort of the members.

The club also voted to stage a minstrel show about the middle of December, the proceeds of which will go into the fireman's treasury. Tom Henderson will have charge of the minstrel show and rehearsals will begin at once.

TUESDAY LUNCHEONS PROVING POPULAR

Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Venture Inn was one of the best attended since the inauguration of these meetings. Several new guests were present and it is believed that they will become converted to the Tuesday luncheons.

Ray C. Eberhard, attorney for the Water and Power Bureau of the City of Los Angeles, was the speaker of the occasion and ably presented the affirmative of the Water and Power Act. His address was appreciated by those present.

Next Tuesday's program is under charge of Mr. Robert Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell promises an interesting program and it will be well worth while to attend. Mr. J. F. Sadler was elected at the luncheon to prepare the program and furnish the entertainment for the luncheon of October 31st.

SHORTHAND COURSE AT PASADENA HIGH

A "Rush Shorthand" course has been started at the Pasadena High school as a part of the extension work. This class is for adults who wish to acquire the art of shorthand quickly. The class will be in session daily on school days from 1:30 to 3:30 in the afternoons. All adults who wish to take advantage of this chance should call at the high school any day after 1 p. m. and should do so within the next few days. Miss Suzanne Thomas of the regular teaching force will have charge.

ST. RITA PUPILS PLAN MUSICAL

The pupils of St. Rita's School are preparing for an extensive musical and dramatic entertainment to be given in the new St. Rita's auditorium on Friday evening, October 20th, commencing at 8 o'clock sharp. They will be assisted by several artists of ability, coming from outside points, as well as locally.

The tickets will be for sale by the children, the general admission being 35 cents. Reserved seats 50 cents. Tickets can also be had at the box office, the evening of the entertainment. The new auditorium is modern in every detail and an up-to-date setting is being put in for the occasion.

The rate for all want ads is two cents a word, payable in advance. Only copy furnished by regular advertisers or people carrying accounts with us will be printed without advance payment, as the amounts are as a rule not of sufficient size to warrant accounting and collection costs.
